Row over site allotment to CM's wife

District Minister defends MUDA deal, CM's family

District In-charge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, addressing a press meet at Jaladarshini Guest House in city this morning as City Congress President R. Murthy, KPCC Spokesperson M. Lakshmana and former Corporator Shivanna look on.

Mysuru, July 7 (MTY & DM)- Rubbishing Opposition allegations of a scam regarding 3.16 acres of land under Kesare Survey No.464 registered in Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife Parvati's name, District Incharge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa asserted that the land is legally owned with all requisite documents.

Addressing a press conference at Jaladarshini Guest House this morning, Dr. Mahadevappa clarified that land was auctioned publicly in 1980s by then Mysuru Deputy Commissioner. It was purchased by a bidder named Ninga for Rs. 100 as an earnest deposit. Later, Siddaramaiah's brother-in-law Mallikarjuna acquired land and subsequently gifted it to Parvati.

It was reported that Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) allocated sites to beneficiaries, including Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathi, under the 50:50 ratio scheme. This scheme aimed to compensate those who lost their land to MUDA's acquisition by allotting a portion of developed land from the same area where it was acquired for layout development.

However, it later surfaced that MUDA had violated norms by allotting prime location sites which were highly valuable to landowners. Parvathi was among beneficiaries who received 14 alternative sites of varying sizes in Vijayanagar III and IV Stages in East Mysuru.

Mysuru, July 7 (BS)- Renowned author and historian Dr. Vikram Sampath released the book 'Power Within: The Leadership Legacy of Narendra Modi', authored by Dr. R. Balasubramaniam of Swami Vivekananda Youth Movement (SVYM), on day two of the Eighth Edition of the Mysuru Literature Festival 2024 at Hotel Southern Star in the city this morning.

The event is being organised by Mysuru Literary Forum Charitable Trust and Mysuru Book Clubs-2015.

Addressing the audience, Dr. Vikram Sampath underscored that the book should not be mistaken for a biography of Prime Minister Modi, but rather as a depiction of leadership in the Indian context. He contrasted this with discussions often centred around Western notions of leadership in seminars.

4.8 lakh RTCs linked to Aadhaar cards in Mysuru

In Mysuru district, out of 16,69,813 RTCs, 4,82,449 have been Aadhaar-linked

Mysuru, July 7 (BLU&DM)- In a major move to combat land grabbing and illegal transactions, the Mysuru District Administration has integrated 4.82 lakh RTCs (Record of Rights, Tenancy and Crops), commonly known as 'Pahani' in Kannada with Aadhaar card numbers of legitimate landowners under the 'Bhu Aadhaar' project.

This initiative, mandated by the Government to tackle the proliferation of forged documents and unlawful land dealings, has successfully minimised legal disputes and complexities. Statewide, there are over 4 crore RTC owners and the Government has embarked on linking each RTC with the respective landowner's Aadhaar card number.

Since its inception, approximately 1.75 crore RTCs have been linked with Aadhaar numbers across Karnataka. In Mysuru district alone, out of 16,69,813 RTCs, 4,82,449 have already been Aadhaar-linked. Village Accountants are responsible for overseeing this process in their jurisdictions.

Under the leadership of Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra (now transferred) and Additional DC P. Shivaraju, the District Administration receives regular updates on the initiative's progress, ensuring effective implementation and monitoring at every stage.

Despite concerted efforts by authorities, the initiative to link RTCs with Aadhaar cards in Mysuru district is encountering technical challenges, affecting the linking of 50,875 RTCs out of 16,69,813 RTCs. These hurdles include issues like land conversion and the absence of 'Pauti Khata' in the names of inheritors following the demise of original landowners.

Benefits to landowners

Linking RTCs with Aadhaar offers numerous benefits to landowners. It facilitates access to Government relief for crop loss, issuance of Mutation Certificates, input subsidies and other essential services. Moreover, this linkage will accurately determine the number of small and marginal farmers in Karnataka, crucial for timely and appropriate relief from both State and Central Governments.

According to Union Government estimates, while Karnataka's farming community officially comprises 44 percent of small farmers, the actual figure is higher, ranging between 65 to 70 percent. By linking RTCs with Aadhaar, the State Government can ensure accurate and complete land records are available, enhancing the efficiency of relief distribution.

Nirmala Sitharaman to present Budget 2024-25 on July 23

Nirmala Sitharaman

New Delhi, July 7 (Agencies)- Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman will present the highly anticipated Union Budget on July 23. President Droupadi Murmu approved a proposal on Saturday to summon both houses of Parliament between July 22 and August 12. This will be the first budget presented by Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led Government since it was re-elected for a record third term earlier this year.

"President Droupadi Murmu (on the recommendation of the Government) has approved the proposal for summoning both the Houses of Parliament from July 22 to August 12. Union Budget 2024-2025 will be presented in Lok Sabha on July 23," read an update shared by Union Minister Kiren Rijiju.

The President had earlier indicated that the upcoming Budget would be marked by several 'historic' steps and carry 'major social and economic decisions. Sitharaman had presented an interim budget in February ahead of the Lok Sabha elections.

This will be first full session of Parliament after new members took oath in first session of 18th Lok Sabha held from June 24 to July 2 following election results.

The upcoming Budget gains additional significance in light of assertions made by PM Modi about 'writing new chapters of bold decisions' during his third term.

The interim budget presented in February saw Sitharaman lower the FY25 fiscal deficit target to 5.1% of the GDP. The Government had announced no changes in the tax slabs in both old and new regime.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

AI-based cameras can instil some fear in road users and lead to some deterrence, but they are not effective without enforcement. Technology can only be an assistance; it can only supplement our efforts by capturing violations, not the violator. Human intervention remains indispensable in India because the road user's mindset has not changed. Traffic fine pendency is huge in Karnataka — 93% of road users with traffic violations have not paid their fines. We need to enforce our rules better; at least 10% of Police enforcement should be real-time, otherwise technology loses its teeth.

There is no denying that the standards of highways and other roads are improving. But my suggestion is that road safety should form a part of the overall package of highway construction, not added as an appendage at a later stage. A road safety audit must be conducted in collaboration with the local administration before the road is opened to the public. Another thing is that there can be an amendment in the motor vehicle rules that if people don't comply and are not paying their fines over a certain time, there should be a provision that allows the Police to impound vehicles with repeated violations registered against them. But this is a policy matter; our elected representatives should take a call.

For me, reducing the number of deaths is the prime objective. Second is sugama sanchara — the smooth flow of traffic. Wherever there are three or more fatal accidents in a day, I check with the officers and assist. I also want to educate the public. That's why I engage with them on social media and post about accidents, especially due to overspeeding. It should stick in the minds of road users that they could also be victim in a road accident; this might make them more cautious. — Alok Kumar, ADGP (Traffic and Road Safety) in Deccan Herald

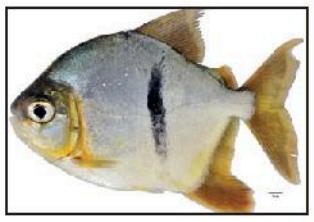
Trains get 'googly eyes,' commuters happy

Massachusetts: The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) recently installed "googly eyes" on five of its trains after a public campaign requested the items be added.

The new additions to the trains are one of the many "creative ways" the MBTA is seeking to improve the rider experience, Joe Pesaturo, Director of Communications at the MBTA, said. He noted the agency has also staged "in-station musical performances and children's voice-over announcements." The googly eyes are currently on select trains on the MBTA's Green Line and commuter rail.

The idea to add a most unusual accessory to the MBTA's trains came as a suggestion from John Sanchez and Arielle Lok, two Massachusetts residents and MBTA riders.

New fish species with human-like teeth



New York: A new fish species has emerged, but it does not hail from the realm of Mordor as its name suggests.

The relationship between pacus and piranhas has been closely studied and while the species are related to one another, pacus have been labelled "vegetarian piranhas" because of the fish's human-like teeth.

The new addition to the pacu family was discovered in Amazon River and has a marking on its body that resembles a villain out of a J.R.R. Tolkien novel.

The fish has a large black band on its body that resembles the "Eye of Sauron," a villain in "The Lord of the Rings."

"The elliptical body of Myloplus sauron, marked with a vertical, black bar tapering toward both ends, resembles the famous vertical-pupilled eye from the novel," said a study published in Neotropical Ichthyology, a peer-reviewed journal. After gathering evidence, researchers were able to distinguish it from the rest.

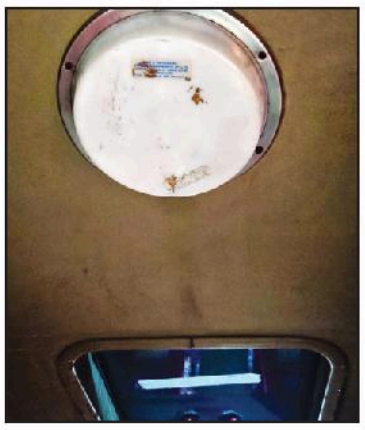
Pathetic condition of Airavat Club-Class Bus: Urgent attention needed



Sir,

As Karnataka celebrates a year of the 'Shakti' scheme offering free bus rides for women, the State Government has efficiently rolled out the initiative with significant financial backing.

However, amidst this success, critical issues persist with the maintenance of other KSRTC buses running on long routes, particularly the Airavat Club-Class AC bus bearing registration number KA-09-F-4915 that runs between Dharmasthala and Mysuru, prompting me to write this letter.

This particular bus suffers from severe problems: Leaking roof, unpleasant odours and torn seats with uncomfortable recliners, causing distressing journeys and physical discomfort despite a steep fare of Rs. 630, a fully unjustified price tag for the sub-standard facilities it offers.

With nearly Rs. 4,300 crore allocated for the 'Shakti' scheme this fiscal year, there is a pressing need to allocate adequate funds for the maintenance of other KSRTC buses that do not come under the scheme.

Continued neglect could lead these buses to be decommissioned prematurely, compounded by a rising number of breakdowns on the roads. Moreover, these smelly and uncomfortable buses bring a bad name to the KSRTC that constantly boasts of providing the best travelling experience. Urgent action from the Transport Department is crucial to address these issues and ensure improvements in bus conditions promptly.

Shonali Sabherwal advocates holistic health, macrobiotic diet

Mysuru, July 7 (PM, MK & BCT)- Good health encompasses more than just physical well-being; it is a harmonious balance of physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual wellness. Together, these aspects create a holistic approach to health, enabling individuals to lead fulfilling and balanced lives, said counsellor, chef and instructor in macrobiotics Shonali Sabherwal.

She was speaking at a session on 'Confusion to Correction: A Macro Perspective' last evening at the Mysuru Literature Festival being held at Hotel Southern Star. The other panellist in the session was author Anuja Chandramouli.

During ancient times, healthy food and eating were the primary medicines that man needed to combat various diseases. Eating the right food in the right quantity has helped humans develop immunity, keep deadly diseases at bay, and fight several infections, she said.

Explaining the macrobiotic diet, she said that it focuses on consuming large amounts of healthy food consistently. It is based on the idea of balancing everything we consume for a healthy lifestyle. It is not just about protein, carbs, and fat; it is about nutrition-specific energy coupled with healing.

"It is a healthy way of eating that integrates physical, spiritual, and planetary health. The macrobiotic diet is an organic, low-fat, and high-fibre plan that excludes processed foods. Whole grains, sprouted seeds, and vegetables are the main foods," Shonali Sabherwal explained.

"Food and cooking styles also have energy components, and their correct combinations can produce subtle energy changes in the body. The biggest myth in Indian households is that milk is sacred. But dairy is high in saturated fats, interferes with digestion, and its excessive consumption can lead to numerous health issues. One can get calcium from other sources like leafy greens, beans, and grains, and use fermented dairy instead of regular dairy," she said.

Poetry as an expression of life

At a session titled 'Poetry - Communication beyond the Abstract: The Flow of Feelings as a Fearless Stream', panellists Rugmani Prabhakar, Kavita Ratna, Sonya J. Nair, Sonali Pattnaik, and Rochelle Potkar recited their poems and elucidated their meanings and significance. The panel explored how poems serve as reflections of emotions, blending day-to-day experiences into a structured form.

They expressed that poetry is an ideal medium for women to articulate their feelings, emphasising the challenge of maintaining a continuous flow of thought while writing. They stressed the importance of capturing beautiful poems as they arise, completing them in one sitting rather than in delayed sessions.

The discussion highlighted a growing interest in poetry reading, noting that even dreams and contemporary issues like the exploitation of women serve as poignant topics for poetic expression.

Former Mayor urges to absorb, regularise service of 252 Contract Pourakarmikas

Mysuru, July 7 (MTY&BS)- The meeting of Karnataka Rajya Mahanagara Palike, Nagarasabhe, Purasabhegala Pourakarmikara Mahasangha, Mysuru District Committee, held at Babu Jagjivan Ram Bhavan at Paduvarahalli in city recently, has resolved to demand the authorities concerned to absorb and regularise the service of 252 Pourakarmikas working on contract basis at Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), based on their seniority.

Former Mayor Narayana watering a sapling to inaugurate the meeting in city recently.

State President of the Sangha and former Mayor Narayana, said that presently 1,300 Pourakarmikas are working under Direct Payment and Additional Payment systems and it has been decided to regularise the service of 252 Pourakarmikas among them. The seniority should be taken into consideration, with the applications invited for recruitment of Pourakarmikas and fixing the age limit of 55 years for submitting the application. Some of the Pourakarmikas, are already 53 to 54 years old and hence they should be given first priority in recruitment. If their service is not regularised now, they will be deprived of Government facilities, the Recruitment Authority should take this into notice, demanded Narayana.

The Recruitment Authority formed to screen the Pourakarmikas should also have Officers of other Departments too, but has on board, only five Officers of MCC Health Section, which has given rise to many suspicions. We demand that, Officers of Social Welfare Department and other Departments be deputed to Recruitment Panel.

While receiving the applications, the records related to Employees State Insurance Corporation (ESIC) and Provident Fund (PF) will also be considered. But the related records are being tweaked and some Pourakarmikas already have got forged records in hand. A complaint will be submitted to Urban Development Minister and Deputy Commissioner of Mysuru, to conduct a probe into these irregularities, said Narayana.

He also alleged that, some of the Pourakarmika leaders are already swindling money on the pretext of facilitating job. Pourakarmikas should not pay heed to such assurances, as the recruitment process is conducted by the Government, with no scope for outsiders interference.

Suspecting the chances of corruption in recruitment process, Narayana further alleged that, even after having served for 18 years and possessing all the relevant documents, some of them are still seeking the photocopies of related records.

Pourakarmika Association District President Artiste Nagaraj said, the applications for recruitment of 252 Pourakarmikas at MCC will be received from July 18. They should be alert, as the possibilities of irregularities in recruitment were high, he warned.

Former Corporator R. Shivanna, leaders Yatiraj, R. Das, Jayaramu, Arun Kumar, P. Manjunath, Shankar Babu, Mahadevu, Railway Ganganna, M.D. Venkatesh, N.P. Gurudatt, Shankarappa, Shesha, Vijay and others were present.

Mysore Palace most photographed after Taj Mahal, says Ashvini Ranjan

Mysuru, July 7 (PM&BCT)- The majestic Mysore Palace is the most photographed structure and the most visited place after the Taj Mahal, said city-based entrepreneur, Founder-Trustee of Pratham Mysore, and author Ashvini Ranjan.

He was speaking at a panel discussion on the topic 'In True Colours,' a compilation of black and white photographs and Ashvini's favourite memories and stories, last evening at the Mysuru Literature Festival being held at Hotel Southern Star. The other panellist was retired professor and author Prof. C. Naganna.

In the morning session, actor Ramesh Aravind released the coffee-table book 'In True Colours' — a collection of 113 photographs and 15 short stories.

Speaking at the panel discussion, Ashvini Ranjan mentioned that his 22-year journey could be traced in the book.

"This is not just a collection of photographs and short stories, but a reflection of my journey over two decades, the places I have visited, and the people I have met. I have portrayed life in rural areas, and the book's speciality is that it is in black and white. Black and white colours attract a person's immediate attention and are close to life. Moreover, black and white is not a jumble of colours, and there is no confusion looking at them," he noted.

Expressing his inclination towards black and white photography, Ashvini Ranjan noted that he visualises images solely in monochrome. Drawing inspiration from his mentor and guru, legendary photojournalist T.S. Satyan, who shared a similar affinity for black and white photos, he acknowledged Satyan's profound influence on his work.

"The photographs mirror the authenticity of human existence, depicted in true colours — both literally and metaphorically, where readers can get a unique perspective on life and various shades of human existence in their natural and unadulterated form," he said.

Recalling his association with T.S. Satyan, Ashvini Ranjan remembered seeing Satyan's photographs in 'The Illustrated Weekly of India'. "I had a chance to meet him in 1998, thanks to his son, Nagendra, whom I had a chance meeting with. Satyan had clicked many photographs of the activities of Pratham Mysore, and I learned the nuances of photography from him in detail."

Founder-Editor of Star of Mysore and Mysuru Mithra Dr. K.B. Ganapathy, dignitaries and literary buffs were present.

'Health lost in kitchen will not be regained in hospital'

Padma Shri awardee Dr. Khadar Valli Dudekula advocates a return to traditional dietary practices

Mysuru, July 7 (SBD&DM)- Dr. Khadar Valli Dudekula, a Padma Shri awardee known for promoting millets, delivered a thought-provoking message at the Mysuru Literature Festival, asserting that "health lost in the kitchen won't be regained in the hospital."

Speaking on achieving a healthy life through millets, he criticised the influence of the protein industry, cautioning against excessive protein consumption. He argued that while protein is essential, the pervasive advocacy for high-protein diets, driven by commercial interests, has led to detrimental health effects such as early-onset diabetes.

He highlighted the detrimental effects of consuming rice, wheat, milk and sugar, attributing them to a range of health issues affecting both men and women. He challenged the prevailing belief in milk's calcium benefits, suggesting that its consumption may not be as beneficial as commonly believed.

He expressed scepticism about claims regarding milk's calcium benefits, noting that qualified doctors often advocate its consumption despite potential drawbacks. He emphasised that if milk consumption were reduced, it could significantly impact hospitals reliant on treating related health issues.

Dr. Khader Valli argued for a return to natural dietary norms, advocating the reduction of rice, wheat, milk, and sugar intake for better health outcomes. He criticised current dietary habits as deviating from natural norms and urged a reconsideration of food choices to align with healthier alternatives.

Expressing concern over the commercialisation of food habits, he advocated a return to traditional dietary practices, particularly the incorporation of millets into daily diets for their nutritional benefits.

Advocating the consumption of millets, Dr. Khader Valli noted the rapid proliferation of IVF centres across the country. Stressing the importance of adopting healthy dietary habits, he highlighted that consuming millet-rich foods can aid in blood dilution, which is crucial for maintaining good health.

Emphasising the significance of dietary choices in maintaining good health, he recommended the consumption of 'Ambali' (porridge) and underscored the health advantages of using Indian-style toilets.

Dr. Khader urged a departure from modern dietary norms, stressing that a balanced diet plays a pivotal role in preventing health issues, rather than relying solely on hospital treatments.

Public perception has shifted towards snake conservation

Snake Shyam highlights willingness among people to call rescuers to relocate snakes in urban areas

Wildlife Conservationist S. Balasubramanya (Snake Shyam) addressing the gathering as Adavi Foundation Founder Pavan Joshi (right) and Project Manager Varsha Anand look on.

Mysuru, July 7 (MTY&KS)- Renowned snake rescuer and wildlife conservationist S. Balasubramanya (Snake Shyam) lamented the escalating impact of human civilization on nature, destroying animals, birds and snakes. He was speaking at the Mysore Literature Festival on 'Snakes of Mysore — Educate, Enlighten and Empower'.

Shyam reflected on the historical harmony between wildlife and uncivilised humans, contrasting it with the current era marked by rampant development and environmental exploitation driven by greed and selfishness.

Recounting his initial foray into snake rescues as a young boy in 1976-77, he emphasised that what began as a casual encounter became a lifelong profession dedicated to snake conservation.

He noted a positive shift in public perception towards snake conservation, highlighting an increased willingness among people to call snake rescuers to safely relocate snakes encountered in urban areas.

Snake Shyam expressed optimism that this changing mindset could contribute significantly to broader nature conservation efforts, urging protection for all wildlife, including insects and birds.

Recently, the Adavi Foundation launched a book titled 'Snakes of Mysore – Educate, Enlighten and Empower,' featuring Shyam's contributions and comprehensive information on snake species and snakebite treatment.

Adavi Foundation Founder Pavan Joshi underscored the importance of conserving Mysuru's rich wildlife heritage, surrounded by diverse forests and natural landscapes.

Adavi Foundation Project Manager Varsha Anand was also present.

An Indian perspective amidst prevalent Western influences

Dr. R. Balasubramaniam recounts the experience of writing about PM Modi, an icon with millions of followers

Author Dr. R. Balasubramaniam (right) with moderator Deepthi Navaratna during the panel discussion at Mysuru Literature Festival -2024, in city this morning.

Mysuru, July 7 (BS)- Dr. R. Balasubramaniam, a multifaceted personality encompassing roles as a development scholar, author, public policy advocate, and leadership trainer, embarked on a rare journey of studying the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

This made him earn the privilege of perhaps being the only person other than the person of the subject, to espy 50 years of Modi's life, which is now bound in the form of a book 'Power Within - The Leadership Legacy of Narendra Modi.'

Reflecting on his 12-year experience condensed into a nutshell, Balasubramaniam captivated the intellectual audience of Mysuru during a panel discussion titled 'Braving to write about icons with millions of followers, challenges and trials," moderated by author Deepthi Navaratna.

Discussing the genesis of chronicling Modi's public life, Dr. Balasubramaniam remarked, "I wanted to undertake a real-life case study on leadership, focusing on an Indian perspective amidst prevalent Western influences."

"I had the privilege of observing Modi in action, engaging in personal conversations, and seeking clarifications on various matters," he continued. "This endeavour opens doors for researchers interested in delving into Bharatiya (Indian) leadership. Our Indian heritage, encompassing fields like agriculture, science, mathematics, and lessons from Jataka Tales and Panchatantra, provided valuable insights," he revealed.

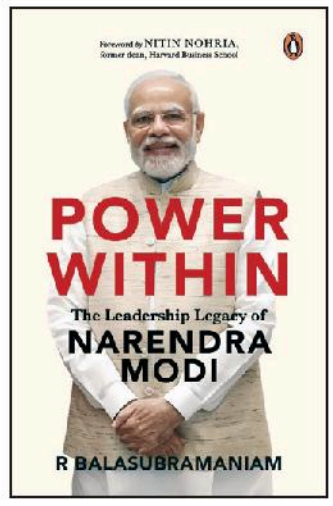
Addressing the perception of leadership, Dr. Balasubramaniam emphasised, "For us, Krishna symbolises leadership not for his personal life but for his leadership qualities. In authoring this book, I was keen on upholding intellectual integrity, supported by a seven-member research team. I aimed to articulate Modi's vision of global leadership."

Highlighting the challenges encountered during the book's creation, Dr. Balasubramaniam shared, "I deliberated deeply on whether to undertake this project. I realised the importance of disseminating Indic wisdom through a contemporary example. Modi's journey from a tea seller to Prime Minister reflects India's unique political landscape with its inherent barriers."

Concluding with a message for youth, he stated, "While the West values external displays of strength, India draws strength from within. I encourage young readers to explore the book."

The panel discussion concluded with an engaging interaction with the audience.

Leadership ideas and concepts from an Indic perspective



In an age marked by increasing strife and violence, the world needs Statesmen-like leaders at the helm of affairs. When one looks at India, she requires the hand of a skilled navigator — one who can not only manage the internal and external situations and issues that are constant in their frequency but also be able to predict and take suitable steps to mitigate problems that are likely to arise.

The Leader of a huge and diverse country like India needs all these and much more, to be able to bring the country back on the path of its ancient glory.

Tomes have been written regarding Leadership and Leaders and their styles, enough to fill libraries. However, almost all books look at Leadership from Western mindsets. From defining leadership to its execution and success, everything is measured on the Western scale. This is where Dr. R. Balasubramaniam brings in change.

In this book, he critically examines the Leadership ideas and concepts from an Indic perspective. Having studied and researched Western ideas of leadership in great detail, and also having the advantage of being an Indian with a deep connection to his roots, he beautifully brings out how PM Narendra Modi epitomises a great blend of the Western and Indian Leader. The book aims to redefine leadership by harmonising Indian leadership principles with Western paradigms.

Dr. Balasubramaniam has had the additional advantage of being able to observe PM Modi at close quarters. Having been hand-picked to be part of the three-member Capacity Building Commission, he would report directly to the PM. This also allowed him to interact with long-time associates of the PM, and his Cabinet colleagues and record their perceptions.

The book is original in its concept, analysing the leadership style of PM Modi from different worldviews and comparing it with ancient Indian ideas of leaders and Indian culture.

The book brings out how the actions and leadership of PM Modi, while absorbing Western leadership ideas, are distinctively Indian. It offers a unique synthesis of Eastern and Western perspectives on leadership, applied within the context of global challenges and public leadership.

The book seeks to inspire leaders to discover their leadership potential by embracing a holistic approach, one that incorporates the best of the East and West. A fantastic book for those aspiring for a life in public and a very good one for anyone interested in how Indian concepts are becoming increasingly relevant in the global thought fora.

'Bimba-Bimbana' key to making movie: Girish Kasaravalli

Mysuru, July 7 (BLU&DM)- Noted film director Girish Kasaravalli emphasised that film roles and shooting locations do not come about by chance but require extensive exploration.

He made these remarks during a panel discussion on film production this morning, the concluding day of the Mysuru Literature Festival.

Kasaravalli highlighted the importance of 'Bimba' (image) and 'Bimbana' (similar image), stating that these concepts are crucial in filmmaking and require diligent pursuit. According to him, the scriptwriting process, which can span months, involves envisioning characters and locations that align with the filmmaker's vision.

"Based on the mental image we create, we scout for locations and meticulously match roles to them. This process demands careful consideration and foresight, illustrating the effort involved in creating a film that resonates with audiences," he explained.

Kasaravalli stressed the importance of films conveying meaningful messages to society. Writer Gopalkrishna Pai and actress Deepa Ravishankar also participated in the discussion.

Book on PM Modi's leadership launched

Praising Dr. Balasubramaniam (known as Dr. Balu), Dr. Sampath remarked, "The book presents a paradigm of leadership from an Indic perspective, framed through the lens of Modi's decades-long public life. Over the past decade, the country has witnessed transformative initiatives such as providing toilets, taps, and LPG connections to rural households, with a strong focus on improving the lives of women."

Reflecting on his own work, Dr. Sampath, whose first book explored the history of Mysore, highlighted the leadership examples set by the Maharajas of Mysore, particularly Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, admired even by Mahatma Gandhi. He also mentioned Ahalyabai Holkar's initiatives to provide water even for stray animals during her reign, illustrating leadership that prioritises public welfare.

He underscored Modi's journey influenced by institutions like the Ramakrishna Ashram and Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), highlighting Modi's commitment to leading India through transformative changes.

Entrepreneur D. Sudhanva, who received the first copy of the book, expressed his deep appreciation for books that resonate with him emotionally. "I can spot a book by its cover in a library and pick it up immediately. The timeless appeal of reading amidst the digital age remains enriching for me," he shared.

K.R. Hospital renovation work to be completed by August end

A three-day mega event in September to mark culmination of year-long centenary celebrations

Mysuru, July 7 (MK&BCT)- The K.R. Hospital, Mysuru's largest Government Hospital, along with Cheluvamba Children's Hospital in the heart of the city and PKTB (Princess Krishnajammanni Tuberculosis Hospital) Sanatorium on KRS Road, is undergoing extensive renovation of its heritage buildings. The work is progressing rapidly and is expected to be completed by the end of August, making the facilities fully operational.

As part of the centenary celebrations of the Mysore Medical College and Research Institute (MMC&RI), the State Government has sanctioned Rs. 89 crore for the renovation and repair of 14 buildings. These include the medical college, K.R. Hospital's Administrative Office, Ophthalmology Department, surgical ward, Cheluvamba Children's Hospital, PKTB Hospital and undergraduate boys hostel, among others.

The renovation is being carried out in a way that preserves the heritage nature of the buildings. Services will be gradually restarted in phases, according to Dr. K.R. Dakshayini, Dean and Director of MMC&RI. The works began two years ago as per the heritage norms since the buildings had been notified as heritage buildings.

"The works are in different stages of completion. The project has been launched for over a year now. In July, nearly 80 percent of the work will be done. But we want all the remaining work to be completed in August," Dr. Dakshayani said.

Completion schedule and phased reopening

By the end of July, 80 percent of the work should be completed. The entire project is scheduled for completion by the end of August. The renovation follows traditional design principles, with inspections ensuring adherence to these standards. The Ophthalmology Department is planned to be the first to reopen.

The CT scan facility at the Trauma Care Centre will soon be operational. The installation of the CT scan equipment is underway, with the unit set to be inaugurated on the 3rd Ashada Friday. Additionally, comprehensive blood testing facilities are being provided.

Due to the renovation work, patients have been redirected to the District Hospital. The number of patients is increasing daily at the Trauma Care Centre, Princess Krishnajammanni Super Speciality Hospital and Seth Mohandas Tulsidas (SMT) Hospital, which is helping to facilitate the renovation of K.R. Hospital, she noted.

Centenary celebrations to conclude in September

Meanwhile, the year-long centenary celebrations of the institute will culminate in September this year with a three-day mega event. Many former students of the century-old institution, including those abroad, are expected to participate. The centenary celebrations began in August last year, with various events and activities taking place throughout the year.

Dr. Dakshayini said the valedictory of the centenary celebrations has been tentatively planned from Sept. 27 to 29. "We have invited CM Siddaramaiah to the valedictory. We are expecting alumni from abroad also. The details of the three-day events will be discussed with the committee and shared later," she said.

Changes in treatment fees

Dr. Dakshayini

The new Princess Krishnajammanni Super Speciality Hospital and Trauma Care Centre on KRS Road has revised its treatment service fees and implemented the Ayushman Bharat-Arogya Karnataka Scheme (ABARK). Both hospitals provide high-quality treatment facilities. Services will be completely free for BPL cardholders and individuals belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. A 30 percent discount will be offered to those above 60 years of age and APL cardholders.

RTCs linked to Aadhaar cards

Village Accountants, entrusted with this task, will first verify the RTC holder's KYC (Know Your Customer). Subsequently, they visit farmers to link RTCs with their Aadhaar card numbers using three OTPs (One-Time Passwords). The process concludes with the uploading of the RTC holder's photograph, ensuring a robust mechanism to prevent illegal land transactions once the entire process is finalised.

Fool-proof system

To ensure transparency and prevent illegal transactions, farmers intending to sell their land must enter their RTC number into a computer system. Upon doing so, the original landowner's photograph and Aadhaar number appear on the screen. Land registration proceeds only when all documents match, eliminating any possibility of fraud or duplication.

To enhance awareness and maximise the benefits of this initiative, the District Administration has launched a dedicated campaign among farmers. By leveraging advanced technology and authentic records in land registration, the initiative not only supports farmers but also strengthens the Government's ability to maintain accurate land records, crucially addressing issues of fake land deals and encroachments.

Full digitisation by 2025 end

According to Revenue Minister Krishna Byregowda, the Department aims to digitise all land records in Karnataka by the end of 2025. The e-Kacheri portal, which has achieved 80 percent progress, is pivotal in this effort, with record rooms for digitisation established across 31 taluks on a pilot basis.

Over 3 crore land documents have already been scanned and the initiative will extend to all remaining taluks. Highlighting support for field staff, Byregowda noted that Village Accountants and Inspectors have been equipped with laptops, while the RCCMS (Revenue Court Case Management System) software aids in monitoring the status of Revenue Court cases.

Mahadevappa, however, emphasised that the land was not granted illegally, as alleged by the Opposition and announced a thorough investigation into MUDA's past activities. "Once the probe is concluded, the committee will submit its findings, and the Government will take stringent action against those found guilty of irregularities and fraudulent transactions," he affirmed.

Responding to queries about attempts to divert attention from the MUDA scam, where sites worth thousands of crores were allegedly allotted illegally, the Minister assured that the investigation will expose the depth of the scam and all involved parties will face consequences based on the report.

Dr. Mahadevappa also announced plans to repeal Section 7(D) of the Karnataka Scheduled Castes Sub-plan (SCSP) and Tribal Sub-Plan (TSP) Act, 2013. This section allowed certain expenditures in exceptional cases, deemed as 'Deemed expenditure,' which some Dalit organizations criticized for misuse. He confirmed that funds under this Act will now be strictly allocated as intended.

City Congress President R. Murthy, District President B.J. Vijaykumar, KPCC spokesperson M. Lakshmana, and other party leaders were also present at the press conference.

Tasting tradition: Session on Prasadams, Indian cuisine

Food for thought — Actor and environmentalist Suresh Heblikar laments loss of natural habitats

Writer Zac O'yeah interacting with the audience as Writer Shobha Narayan and panellist Monika Monalisa look on.

Mysuru, July 7 (BLU,GA,TRR& KS)- Writer Shobha Narayan expressed her admiration for the diverse Prasadams distributed at Indian temples, emphasising their unique blend of food and religious significance.

Speaking at the session 'Refined Living: Tastes and Sights of the World. Suave and Sensitive: Cultural Layers of Experience' at Mysuru Literary Festival last evening, she highlighted the flavours of Prasadams from various religious centres, including Hindu, Christian and Sikh Temples such as Dharmasthala and Udupi. Shobha noted that each religious centre in India has its own distinctive culture and culinary traditions.

"Devotees consume Prasadam as a gift from God, reflecting the intersection of food and religion," she remarked. Shobha also pointed out the global popularity of South Indian dishes like Masala Dosa and Bonda, which are now available in European countries, underscoring their widespread appeal.

Writer Zac O'yeah, also speaking at the seminar, praised R.K. Narayan's depiction of Indian rural life in 'Malgudi Days' and expressed his fondness for Masala Dosa, a dish universally beloved for its taste. He emphasised that Indian cuisine, including Masala Dosa and Vada, enjoys popularity across Europe, highlighting their hygienic and diverse nature based on regional influences.

"Indian food is not only tasty but also diverse and representative of local traditions," Zack O'yeah concluded, echoing another panellist Monika Monalisa's sentiments on the rich diversity of Indian food and culture.

Destruction of natural environments

Senior actor and environmentalist Suresh Heblikar expressed deep concern over the destruction of natural environments, highlighting that seventy percent of the world's lakes have been decimated.

Speaking at the session on saving forests and land, he reflected on his early inspiration from Bengali cinema during his MA studies, where he was encouraged by his professor to pursue filmmaking that captures the richness of India, akin to the impactful French film 'Breathless'.

He reminisced about his directorial debut 'Usha Kirana', which drew from his childhood experiences and emphasised realism, contrasting it with contemporary big-budget films that prioritise actors over authenticity. Heblikar urged the media not to fixate on individual actors alone.

Discussing environmental issues, Heblikar lamented the loss of natural habitats and underscored the need to protect grasslands. "The dominance of unnatural environments is altering global conditions, posing significant threats to human life," he warned.

Columnist Shashidhar Haladi highlighted the importance of environmental conservation for future generations, citing Poornachandra Tejaswi's influential role in promoting environmental awareness through literature.

Tejaswi's shift from serious literature to environmental themes, Haladi explained, was driven by the rapid degradation of the environment and the imperative to educate people about its importance. Haladi shared his literary contribution, the novel 'Abbe', which advocates for the preservation of arid area environments and explores themes related to biodiversity such as penguins and the Abbe spider.

Heblikar highlighted Pandit Rajeev Taranath's stature alongside musical legends such as Dr. Gangubai Hangal, Pandit Bhimsen Joshi and Mallikarjun Mansoor, all from Hubballi-Dharwad, a region known for producing literary and musical giants.

Heblikar recounted Taranath's journey from an English professor to a Sarod virtuoso under the tutelage of Ali Akbar Khan in Kolkata, followed by training under Pt. Ravishankar, Annapoorna Devi, Nikhil Banerjee, and Asish Khan. Taranath's mastery earned him numerous national and international accolades, including Padma Shri and Sangeet Natak Academy awards.

Rumi Harish, a disciple of Pt. Taranath, reflected on her training under the maestro, acknowledging her ongoing commitment to music. She shared her experiences learning from Taranath during musical concerts, noting the challenges of teaching music to others despite its learnable nature. Fake news for TRPs damaging credibility

Mysuru, July 7 (SPN&DM)- Senior journalists Amshi Prasannakumar and Ravindra Bhat expressed their views that there would be no threat to print media as long as people do not place faith in electronic and social media, which they criticised for disseminating fake news in pursuit of higher TRPs.

They spoke at the session on the responsibilities of media amidst the circus of news at the Mysuru Literature Festival last evening.

Ravindra Bhat emphasised that while media reflects societal happenings, print media retains public trust due to its reliability. He noted that many people read morning newspapers to discern factual news amidst the deluge of misinformation from electronic and digital media the previous day.

Bhat also highlighted the competitive challenge faced by newspapers from mobile phones, which swiftly spread misinformation via social networks.

He argued that newspaper headlines should resonate with readers and reflect societal realities. Bhat underscored the role of print media in upholding social responsibility, especially during times when advertising revenues fluctuate.

Acknowledging the media's status as an industry, he pointed out that newspapers are currently priced at Rs. 4 or 5 per copy. However, he emphasised that without advertisements, the cost could rise to Rs. 20 or 25 per copy, posing a burden on the common man. Despite these challenges, he stressed the importance of print media advancing while upholding its social responsibility.

Amshi Prasannakumar affirmed the influential role of print media, suggesting that many current cases and incidents would remain unknown without its coverage. He emphasised the print media's ongoing relevance and its potential for career advancement in journalism.

Responding to queries, Prasannakumar dismissed concerns over the closure of journalism courses, highlighting ongoing opportunities for graduates in various media sectors. He challenged perceptions of media integrity, urging society to reflect on its own moral standards compared to past decades.

Kalamandira needs urgent repairs

Mysuru, July 7 (BS)- Karnataka Kalamandira auditorium, the hotbed of cultural activities, on Hunsur road in the city needs urgent repair.

The imposing building standing above the ground level marvels onlookers from outside, but one has a pathetic experience, upon exploring the nook and corner inside the building.

Kalamandira is the permanent venue for hosting majority of the Government events, including the birth anniversary celebrations of noted saints, besides being rented out for private events, that keeps it busy throughout the year. But, when it comes to maintenance of basic amenities, it is exactly opposite.

The toilets reek of improper maintenance, with the commode in men's toilet broken and shifted to a corner. The flusher is also damaged and so also the sheets covering the roof of the toilet. The dangling electric cables, vanishing bulbs, seepage of wall and wash basin sans a tap, are the other issues.

Similar is the complaint at

Women's toilet too, with some of the women complaining about lack of maintenance, recently.

When it comes to security arrangements at the building, the complaints galore again, with gaps giving easy access for the thieves, even though the main entrance and side entrances, are closed by big size doors. The stray cattle can easily enter the auditorium premises from Kiru Ranga Mandira (Mini Auditorium) side.

The sheet covering the surface of loud speaker installed to the left of the dais is also broken, with cables of the sound system hanging from the same, but there is no hint of action taken to restore them, rue art lovers.

It is said, taking into cognisance, several such complaints that came to its notice, the Department of Kannada and Culture, the custodian of Kalamandira, was preparing to submit a proposal to the State Government to give a new look to the auditorium.

Even the officials had assured to take up emergency repair works after the conclusion of Lok Sabha elections. But there is no hint about starting the repair works. Before taking up the works, the complaints related to basic amenities should be addressed first, in the interest of those organising the events in the auditorium, at least to provide them minimum service to the rent they pay towards utilising the facility, demand general public.

Pensioners pour out their woes, to stage protest tomorrow

Mysuru, July 7 (TRR)- Retired employees of both Government agencies and private establishments, in a press release have given vent to the injustice being meted to them by the Employees Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) and have announced that they will be staging a protest July 8 (tomorrow) to draw the attention of the Labour Department, Government of India and the EPFO.

"We are receiving a monthly pension of Rs. 500 to Rs. 2,000 from PF and are unable to lead our life with this meagre amount. Many retired employees have died unable to bear their medical expenses including tablets. But retired Government employees are getting a minimum monthly pension of Rs.15,000 to Rs. 1 lakh," says the EPS 95 press release.

The press release further says that despite their continuous fight, protest and rasta-roko agitations and submitting memorandums to many MPs and Ministers of the country their problems remain and justice is being continuously denied to them.

EPS 95 employees work in several Government organisations like KSRTC, BMTC, KMF and in private organisations like JK Tyre, Falcon Tyres, MDCC Bank, Sugar factories, private schools and colleges, various cooperative organisations, MSMEs, KSIC, Bhoruka, Mypol, Bata, MNPM, MICO, Zoo, Medical College among others. We had contributed the prescribed ceiling limit amount of Rs. 451 to Rs. 1200. In spite of this and judgements of Supreme Court, we are not getting our fair share of pension on the ground that we should have given 'Joint Option' while in service. Thousands of EPS 95 retired employees will stage a peaceful protest on July 8 at 10.30 am at PF Office in Gayathripuram here to draw the attention of authorities concerned.

President of National Coordination Committee, Nagpur, Prakash Ende, National General Secretary Prakash Patak, National Working President Bheemarao Dongre, various State leaders of EPS 95 and KPCC Spokesperson M. Lakshmana will participate in the protest.

Media must highlight children's issues: UNICEF delegate Prosun Sen

Mysuru, July 7 (MTY&BS)- Prosun Sen, Communication, Advocacy and Partnership Specialist, UNICEF, Karnataka, Telangana and Andhra Pradesh, has opined that journalists can catch the attention of readers by writing special articles and write ups related to children.

He was speaking after inaugurating the two-day workshop on 'Media For Change-Children's Subjects' organised by the Department of Mass Communication and Journalism, University of Mysore in association with UNICEF, here recently.

Sen said, before writing articles related to children, journalists should have a fine knowledge about laws related to kids. There is also a scope to do value addition to write-ups, by gleaning information from the departments working for the cause of children, as there is a need to improve the quality of related articles.

The editors and reporters of widely circulated newspapers should have a cornucopia of information at their disposal, to bring in reforms in the society. The workshop should not just be restricted to a newspaper or district, but should involve all journalists. It is worthy enough to note that, this workshop aims at development, health, safety and education of children, said Sen.

Senior journalist Amshi Prasanna Kumar said, everyday offers an opportunity to learn for the journalists. There is a need for reorientation in journalism too, as we have to be equipped with advance methods to obtain information.

Chairperson of University of Mysore's Department of Mass Communication and Journalism Prof. M.S. Sapna, Convener of Karnataka Child Rights Observatory Prof. Dr. C.K. Puttaswamy, Joint Director of Education Dr. Panduranga and others were present.

Sena Pade stages dharna demanding CBI probe into MUDA scam

Mysuru, July 7 (GA&DM)- Alleging Multi-crore scam in MUDA (Mysuru Urban Development Authority), members of Karnataka Sena Pade staged a demonstration near the old Deputy Commissioner's office along Hunsur road here recently demanding a CBI probe into the scam.

Alleging that MUDA is under the control of land mafia, the protestors claimed that 90 percent of MUDA sites have been usurped by realtors and real estate agents. Though people have been waiting for decades to get a site, only the influential and the powerful are getting sites instead, they maintained.

Pointing out that though the previous Deputy Commissioner had written a number of times to the Government bringing to notice the massive irregularities that were going on in MUDA, they maintained that these letters did not get any response. As a result, one of the biggest scams, involving thousands of crores of rupees has taken place in MUDA, they said , adding that the Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh's silence on the matter has raised suspicions.

Charging the Government of trying to hush up the scam, they questioned why the previous MUDA Commissioner G.T. Dinesh Kumar is not questioned and arrested in connection with the scam. Contending that the ongoing probe will not be of any help in punishing the guilty, they demanded a CBI probe into the scam in order to unearth all those involved in the scam.

The Sena Pade District President Tejesh Lokesh Gowda, office-bearers Prabhushankar, Krishnappa, Suresh Gold, P. Prajeesh, Shivalingaiah, Shantaraje Urs, Neha, Manjula, Varakudu Krishnegowda, Sindhuvalli Shivakumar, Naganna, Kumargowda, Bhagyamma, Narayangowda, Anil and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Glabrous

Pronunciation: GLAY-brus (adjective).
Meaning: Having a surface without hairs or projections. Glabrousness or otherwise, of leaves, stems, and fruit is a feature commonly mentioned in plant keys; in botany and mycology, a glabrous morphological feature is one that is smooth and may be glossy. It has no bristles or hair-like structures such as trichomes.
Origin: "Before them an old man / wearing a fringe of long white hair, bare-headed / his glabrous skull reflecting sun's / light...." No question about it — bald crown of an old man's head (as described here in William Carlos Williams's poem "Sunday in the Park") is a surface without hairs. Williams's use isn't typical, though. More often glabrous appears in scientific contexts, such as the following description of wheat: "The white glumes are glabrous, with narrow acuminate beaks." And although Latin glaber, our word's source, can mean simply "bald," when glabrous refers to skin with no hair in scientific English, it usually means skin that never had hair (such as palms of hands).
Example: Well, not spotted per se, but definitely glabrous and glaucous. —Murr Brewster, The Christian Science Monitor, 28 Mar. 2024.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Get Over It

Meaning: The phrase "Get Over It" means to accept something that happened in the past and move on.
Origin: When we talk about "Getting over it," we're discussing finishing something — be that an illness, an emotional upset, or something else entirely. The origin of the idiom "get over it" is attested to use of the word "over" as a late 14th century meaning for "recover from." The term is first seen in literature in John Behervaise's Thirty-six Years of Seafaring Life published in 1839, referencing an amputation: "Such was his state that no one supposed he could ever get over it."
Example: Danny—"I'm really bummed that I lost the game last night" Rosa — "You need to get over it and focus on winning today's game."
